TARO 太郎

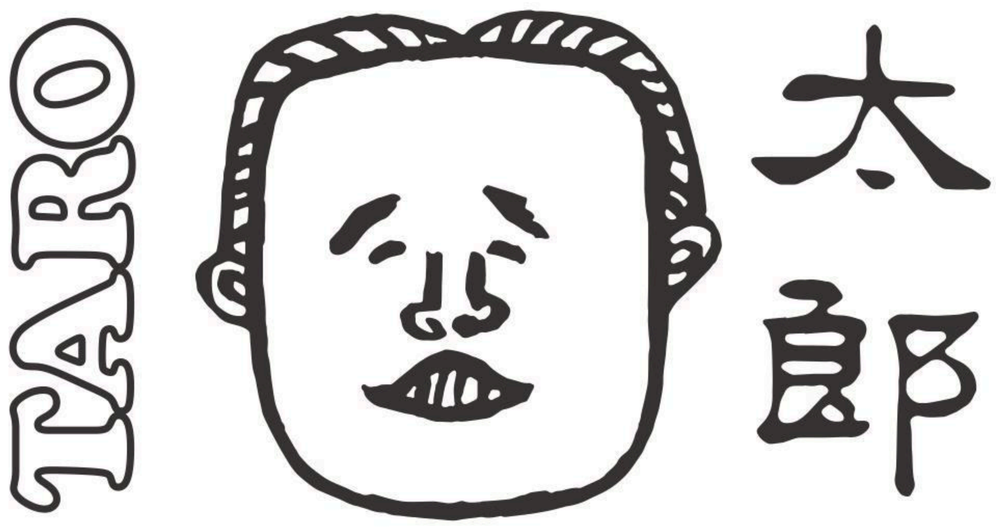

'Taro' is a 大衆食堂, 'TaishuShokudo' in Japanese that means 'An everyday dining room in Japan'. It was founded by Mr. Taro who visited London for the first time in 1979 and dreamt of making Japanese food popular by bringing authentic Japanese cuisine and culture in the city of London. Twenty years later on 10th of September 1999, Mr Taro was able to open the very first Taro restaurant in Brewer Street. After three years of remarkable success, he opened the second branch of Taro Old Compton Street in 2002 (Now moved to Balham). The third Taro restaurant in Kennington and Finchley Central the fourth which opened in January 2021. In December 2022, He opened the fifth branch in Pimlico. In January 2023, Taro took over a grade II listed building which is a local heritage site previously known as L. MANZE. He lovingly and carefully restored the interior of the building in respect to its rich history without altering much of the precious tiles and floor of the shop. The shop will be now known as Taro Walthamstow, the 6th Taro restaurant.

Taro began its journey with 10 staffs that has now increased to around 100 members of full-time and part-time staffs. Mr. Taro created Japanese dishes, such as Chicken Teridon, Beef Teridon, Salmon Teridon, and Tofu Teridon that became popular dishes across all Taro restaurants branches. These dishes are authentically creation of Mr. Taro and because of its popularity in London, they are now being copied by various or used as an inspiration to some of Japanese restaurants in London.
